PROJECTS

Mini Ecommerce App Juni 2024
Reference To web Tokopedia

An e-commerce project built using the MERN stack with React as the front-end framework, MongoDB as the cloud database, and Node.js with Express for the back-end API. The project implements robust state management using React Redux, Redux Persist, and the Context API to handle application state efficiently. Email verification is managed through NodeMailer, while JWT (JSON Web Token) and bcrypt are used for secure authorization and password hashing. Additionally, the project integrates Cloudinary for seamless product image storage and management, ensuring that media is handled effectively in the cloud.
